Respect is an essential part of human life. What we do when we respect someone is that we recognize their value. When you disrespect someone you are really doing nothing other than saying to someone —you are not valuable.—You are not worthy

Respecting others is a silent way to express our feeling for them. It's an unspoken way of communication which builds unshaken and strong relations between people respecting each other. When a person shows respect for someone, then it means that the person has some value for him. His advice and suggestions are important for him.

It is very important to respect one another in any relationship. It is impossible to have a good relationship work out, so there has to be an over-riding high regard for one another, even if there are disagreements. How can you treat someone well when you feel they are unworthy and have no value? How can you be helpful to them when you feel they have nothing to add? How can you have a high opinion of someone who views you as unworthy and value-less?
