4	What's the most useful way of learning a language? Is it writing essays or doing grammar exercises? The answer is clear: whatever you like doing. Evidence shows that the most successful language learners are those who find something they like to do with their chosen language and do it again and again. And it doesn't really matter what the activity is. Some of the clearest evidence of this has come through research into reading. Stephen D. Krashen, a well-known second language researcher, decided to look at how well language learners who read for fun did in grammar test. He discovered that they did better than people who went on courses and it wasn't important what books they read. To prove this, he gave students books from a series called Sweet Valley High. These are popular books about teenage life. Although the books' literary quality may not have been high, the readers made good progress in vocabulary, reading, and speaking tests. In a separate case study, a girl improved her writing so much that her angry teacher accused her of copying. The only explanation she had was that she'd started reading regularly. 33. What was the primary purpose of the passage? (1400 H) <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) To introduce a researcher and his recent findings 2) To prove inaccuracy of a commonly held view 3) To answer a question related to learning a language 4) To describe one of the most important research findings 34. We can understand from the passage that the people who took part in Krashen's study <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) spoke English as their native language 2) leaned a second language fully before they took part in the study 3) liked to read books with a high literary quality 4) were interested in reading in a foreign language 35. Why has the author mentioned "a separate case study" in paragraph 3? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) To argue that reading is useful for girls as well as boys 2) To show that practice in reading affects one's progress in other language-related areas 3) To prove that giving learners practice in writing is as effective as giving them practice in reading 4) To say that writing in a foreign language can make people turn to reading texts more regularly 36. Which of the following statements does the passage support? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) If second language learners find something fun to do in each of the four language skills, they soon realize that reading is the most enjoyable language skill. 2) Language learners learn best when their teachers focus on one basic language skill most of the time. 3) People can learn a language faster if and if they read passages as often as possible. 4) The best strategy to follow to learn a language may vary from person to person. 	۱۰
